WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Federal Judge George W. English of St. Louis, whose official concern is soon to be made the subject of a report by a Special Investigating Committee of the House of Representatives, is defended by his attorneys, in a brief just filed with the committee, as a man who has made some mistakes, but who has done nothing for which he can properly be impeached.

The brief is Judge English's answer to the charges which prompted Congress, in the closing days of its last session, to adopt a joint resolution calling for an inquiry into his conduct, with a view to determining whether he had been guilty of any high crimes or misdeeds requiring the interposition of the constitutional powers of the House.

Under this resolution, the Investigating Committee held hearings in St. Louis last spring and at Central, Ill., in July.

Another public hearing will be here next Tuesday to receive the testimony of Charles M. Polk of St. Louis, attorney for the bondholders of the Alton, Granite City and St. Louis Traction Co., who in a recent letter to Representative

Henry B. Hawes, contradicted some of the testimony given by Judge

English at the St. Louis hearing.

Polk's Charges.

As told in the Post-Dispatch last week, Polk charged in his letter to

Representative Hawes that Judge

English compelled bondholders of the traction company to accept

Charles B. Thomas, former Referee in Bankruptcy, in Judge English's court, as special counsel and virtual dictator of the receivership of the company.

The company was placed in receivership in August, 1920, and Thomas was paid approximately $44,000 for his services by the company prior to resignation last January, after

Post-Dispatch revealed that an internal investigation of his conduct and that of Judge English is in progress.

David R. Francis Jr., head of bondholders' committee, who stated in his letter, complained ineffectually of the high fees being paid to Thomas, has been subpoenaed to testify at hearing.

In a document of more than 100 words, counsel for Judge

English, Edward C. Kramer, Rubin I. Kramer, Bruce A. Campbell, Frank T. O'Hare and William

Atkinson, gave an exhaustive analysis of the evidence from the defendant's point of view.

The argument against impeachment is thus summed in their concluding paragraph:

The most that can be said about Judge English, as shown in the evidence in this case, is that he has made some mistakes.

We

that the record of any

who has disposed of 6000

could not be investigated

and finding some mistakes.

In the last libraries of this country are full of the mistakes of men. Mistakes do not constitute an impeachable offense and submit that on the whole record of Judge English, as shown in the evidence in this case, no corruption or violation of the law has been shown by the respondent."

Among the other charges against Judge English, the brief

at length with his use of language in a lecture from the

to a group of State's Attorneys and Sheriffs. It asks the Investigating Committee, "in view of all the good work done by Judge English," not to condemn for using a few curse words in retirement.

AGED PASTOR KILLED
AS PIPE FIRES ROBE
IN SUIT BASED ON
CORNICE ACCIDENTThe Rev. Joseph T. Lingo, 90, Fatally Burned at Masonic Home.

The Rev. Joseph T. Lingo, 90, a retired Baptist minister, residing at the Masonic Home, 5351 Delmar boulevard, died yesterday of burns suffered when a pipe from his pipe ignited his pajama robe. He called for help and the flames were extinguished by a neighbor.

The Rev. Mr. Lingo came to St. Louis four years ago, prior to which he had a pastorate at Quincy, Mo. He is survived by his son, Oscar Lingo, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Mollie Ryals, of Webster Woman, whose kimono caught fire from a stove, died.

Mrs. Rose Conlon, 22, years old, of 5132 Minerva avenue, died at the Mullanphy Hospital, Wednesday, of burns suffered at 7 a.m. Monday when her silk kimono was ignited by flames which issued from under a kettle of boiling water on a kitchen stove. The funeral will be tomorrow morning from the residence to St. Mark's Church with interment in Calvary Cemetery.

WOMAN SENTENCED AS FOR-
ER IN COUNTY, THEN PAROLEDRichmond Heights Resident Who Pleaded Guilty Told to Stay On of State.

Mrs. Helen McKeon of Richmond Heights pleaded guilty in Circuit Court at Clayton on charges of forging a $100 check three months ago. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Noble recommended, since she was a woman and had acknowledged her error, that the sentence be not more than two years in the penitentiary.

"I do not believe in sentencing women to the penitentiary," said Judge Wurzburg. "I will sentence her, instead, to one year in the County jail."

Noble then recommended that she be granted immediate parole which was done. Mrs. McKeon was paroled to a woman in California, Ill., and told to stay out of Missouri.

stated by the United States Senate in the "Archbold case," it adds, "the construction should be given that accords with innocence."

The brief declares that no general showing of tyranny was made.

The only cases cited under the heading, it states, were those of Attorneys Webb and Karch, "which it may be said that mistakes were made, but surrounding them were mitigating circumstances."

Most of the criticism of Judge English, the brief goes on, occurred as a result of Thomas' holding the post of Referee in Bankruptcy. Attention is called to the fact that Thomas has been superseded by J. G. Burnside, "a man of ability and integrity and of whom no complaint has been made by any party."

Finally, the committee is asked to note that lawyers who have transacted business in Judge English's court, except Webb and Karch, "have not seen fit to come forward and criticize his conduct."

MAN'S BODY FOUND ON BRIDGE

Unidentified Victim Probably Killed by Interurban Cars.

The body of an unidentified man, about 35 years old, was found beside the tracks or the McKinley system at a "cross over" near the west approach of the McKinley bridge, late last night. Apparently the man had been run over by a string of cars. A knife and $3.13 was all that was found in the pockets. He wore a blue suit and brown overcoat, had black hair and was smooth shaven.

The crew of a westbound freight train of the McKinley line, who found the body, said they had gone east with a string of cars a short time previous, but had not seen anyone on the tracks.

Mrs. Minnie Funk, 63, 2220 College avenue, was struck at 10 p. m. at College and West Florissant avenues by an automobile driven by Little Purdey of 5228 Maffitt avenue, a service car driver, who was arrested. She was taken to the home of a sister, where she was pronounced suffering from internal injuries and knee lacerations.

Miss Edna Smith, 19, of 1943 North Broadway, suffered injuries to the back and shoulder and a lacerated scalp, and her niece, Ruth Smith, 3, 1202 South Sixth street, suffered a probable skull fracture when struck and dragged 20 feet by an automobile as they were crossing the street in front of Miss Smith's home. The driver of the machine, Arthur Brown of 818 North Market street, was arrested.

Woman, 65, Hurt in Crash.

Mrs. Blanche Hoke, 65, of 3512 Castlemann avenue, suffered several fractured ribs and a lacerated scalp when an automobile in which she was riding with her son, Charles C. Hoke, collided with another machine at Nebraska avenue and Russell boulevard. William Booth of 2913 Arsenal street, owner of the other machine, was arrested and told police a recent acquaintance, whose name he did not know, was driving his machine and fled after the collision. At city hospital Booth was pronounced suffering from acute alcoholism.

MAN GIVEN FIVE YEARS FOR HOLDUP IN RESIDENCE

Jury Convicts Everett Dickens, Identified by Four Victims, Despite His Alibi. Five years' imprisonment was imposed on Everett Dickens, 29 years old, of 3605 Palm Street, in Circuit Judge Frey's court Wednesday for robbery in the first degree. Dickens entered the home of William Zeller, 4165 Grove Avenue, on last Jan. 23, and took $5 from Elmer Stevenson of 4115A Lebadie Avenue. Zeller, Stevenson and Mrs. Stevenson all identified Dickens as the robber.

The defense produced a witness who testified that Dickens was at a party at the time of the robbery.

R. J. Callahan, representing the defendant, said the case would be appealed.

Dickens is now at liberty on an appeal bond, after receiving on Oct. 26, 1934, a five-year sentence for the robbery of the Lincoln Tugger Shop, 4102 West Florissant Avenue, four months previously. He served eight months of a two-year sentence in Bonnville for an automobile theft in 1922, and has been arrested in connection with several drug store robberies and a concealed weapon case. He was critically wounded last Feb. 13 in a revolver fight with police, after pilfering a flat on North Sarah street, stealing a taxi cab, wrecking the cab and then attempting to escape in a commandeered milk wagon.

BOYS' CLUB AGAINST BEGGING

Parade in Opposition to Thanksgiving Day Practice in New York. By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The custom of hundreds of New York children, who dressed in varicolored costumes, beg for alms on Thanksgiving day, was protested yesterday by more than 500 members of the Madison Square Boys' Club, who took part in a parade against the practice. The boys were dressed in home costumes and carried banners reading:

"American Boys Don't Beg."

Actually Half Their Price—Doubles the Service of the Suit

These new Werner & Werner suits are superior in style, fabric-durability and tailoring. We spent many months planning—looking at woolens—investigating makers—selecting patterns—carefully choosing linings, trimmings, etc.—specifying models—incorporating new style features, yet continually striving to keep the price far, far below what the average man would willingly pay for a hand-made pure virgin wool suit. We think that you will admit we have done a good job. They're suits you will be proud to wear, and suits you will have difficulty in wearing out. Sizes for short men, tall men, thin men and fat men in the most desirable colors and patterns. Single and double breasted models.

MENTION ON VALIDITY OF
WHEELER INDICTMENT BEGINS

Montana Senator
Says Government
Cannot Legally Proceed Against
Montana Senator.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Arguments on the indictment returned here against Senator Wheeler of Montana was begun today before Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.
Senator Wheeler's counsel, Senator Walsh of Montana, contended that the present charge of conspiracy against his client was based upon the same set of facts

Senator Wheeler faced in his own State where he was acquitted of a charge of improperly representing Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, before the Interior Department.

It is the contention of Wheeler that in view of his former acquittal, the Federal Government cannot legally proceed against him in the District of Columbia. The government holds the cases are wholly unlike and are based upon different transactions, and that consequently the indictment must stand.

Lee Meriwether to Speak.

turned from a trip abroad, will be the speaker at the Million Population Club meeting at the Claridge Hotel at 8 p. m. Monday.

$557 TAKEN IN HOLDUP OF A MOVIE THEATER

Two Robbers Force King Bee Manager to Open Safe as He Is Leaving at Night.

Two men held up the King Bee Theater, at 1710 North Jefferson Avenue, after 11 o'clock last night, and escaped with $557 cash from the safe.

Manager Patrick Collins was preparing to leave when the men appeared. One man compelled two ushers, Arthur Ripples and William Bruening, to lie face down in the dark auditorium, while the other man marched Collins to the office and compelled him to open the safe. When he had the money, he whistled his companion to his side and they fled together to an automobile.

Police investigation of the robbery was delayed because a police department automobile was wrecked in a collision at Jefferson and St. Louis avenues. Detective Louis Spies was slightly cut. Two weeks ago, burglars entered the King Bee Theater, hammered at the safe but failed to open it.

TWO ST. LOUIS BANKS SUED FOR APPROXIMATELY $26,000

Kansas City Woman Alleges Checks Payable to Her Were Wrongfully Cleared.

Two St. Louis banks are sued for approximately $13,000 each in suits filed Wednesday by Mrs. Margaret C. Skelton of Kansas City, who alleged that checks of the defunct Indiana Refining Co., payable to her, were wrongfully indorsed and cleared.

One suit is for $13,154.91 against the Liberty Central Trust Co. and the other for $12,655.59 against the First National Bank. Except in one instance, the same checks are listed in both suits.

It is charged that the First National Bank wrongfully received the checks in 1920 and 1921, from an Okmulgee bank and sent them through the St. Louis Clearing House, and that the Liberty Central Bank, then the Central National, canceled the checks and marked them paid "when wrongfully indorsed by parties unknown to the plaintiff."

HIGH SCHOOL RUN
BY GIRLS FOR A DAY

Cleveland Principal and Teach ers Supplanted in Experiment on Management.

Girl students were in complete control of Grover Cleveland High School, Grand boulevard and Osceola street, today, as an experiment of the faculty to give them a taste of what it is like to administer the affairs of the big institution.

Regular teachers in all classes having girl pupils had the next thing to a full holiday added to their Thanksgiving, for they sat idle in their rooms while girls conducted their classes. They were seeing themselves, in a measure,
as students saw them.

Charles Slater, the principal ordi narily, was out of work for the day. At his desk, in his study, sat Janet Bremer, 15 years old, of 5520 South Grand boulevard, who is starting her third year in high school. She opened the school mail and saw that matters involved in it were attended to, and she an swered telephone calls for the prin cipal.

Thrilling. One Girl's Comment.
"Thrilling" was Miss Bremer's comment on how it felt to be act ing principal of a school with 1000 girls and 1000 boys under her guid ance.

The arrangement came about at the suggestion of Miss Bremer and Elizabeth Wass, 18, of 3404 Humph rey street, who is acting as ass istant principal. They broached the idea recently to Miss Edna Fisse, dean of girls, that it would be nice for the girls to learn how the school was run. Miss Wass substituted for Milton Fry today.
Miss Fisse was supplanted by Ruth Waldbauer, 16, of 3658 Botanical avenue.

In the class rooms there were about 50 girls seriously carrying on the direction of recitations.
They were quite successful in main taining order and getting serious answers to their questions. Vis itors in the school could not help but notice an undercurrent of in terest among all the pupils which is not present on humdrum days of telling regular teachers how many parts Gaul was divided into and how to determine the length of the hypotenuse.

Chosen by Committee.

Even the three young women clerks in the school office were re lieved of their tasks by girls. How ever, the janitors and engine room men were not required to make way for the rulers of the day. The girls to fill all the positions were chosen by a committee comprising heads of all the girls' school organ izations.

Boys in the school were out of the running. They behaved man nfully, though, in bowing to the rule of their schoolmates. Nobody has suggested a boys' day, and
"Principal" Bremer thinks the lads might be a little bit jealous.

All the students gathered outside the building before morning classes for a flag-raising ceremony—con ducted by the girls, with a girl orator. Then there was an as sembly in the auditorium, and Prin cipal Slater presented his temporary successor with the keys to the school. It was announced then that all the girls would parade around the building, in white middy blouses, after the day's work was ended, led by a girls' band.

This week's issue of the school paper, the Orange and Blue, out today, was prepared entirely by girls and it was devoted wholly to their activities. The home econ ics classes planned the luncheon menu, making sure to include pie.
Perhaps far enough that the girls should have a chance at run ning things today, for the boys had their opportunity on the football field yesterday and lost to Central High, 13 to 8.

Raising $500,000 Quota.

The need of the Federation of Jewish Charities for funds to carry on its work here was outlined to day by David Summers, chairman of the Campaign Committee, which will handle the drive for $500,000 to be held from Dec. 6 to 13.
Headquarters for the campaign
have been set up at Hotel Statler.

"The Federation includes every Jewish activity of an educational

he said. "It has 22 constituent members. In past years $300,000 has been subscribed for its uses, but the demands have become so heavy that it was necessary to in crease the figure this year."

MALARIA CHECKS PARESIS
TEMPORARILY, TESTS SHOW

Patients Brought Back to Normal, but Permanent Results Are Matter for Conjecture.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Inflicting stimulus to the brain with magnets to check paresis, has been tried out here, Dr. Sydney Kuh, neurologist at Rush Medical College of the University of Chicago, announced yesterday. The treatment is not a cure for paresis, which thus far has been found incurable, but in certain patients it has checked the disease for a time.

The tests indicate, Dr. Kuh said, that patients may be brought back to normal temporarily and may be restored to usefulness for a given length of time, although permanent results remain a matter of conjecture. The treatment is unsuccessful if the patient cannot tolerate quinine, for quinine is necessary to check the malaria.

Experiments in Europe with inoculation with the artificial disease have been so successful that patients have been enabled to return to their work for a time, Dr. Kuh said. "We cannot say definitely what our results will be. The experiments are not as yet far enough advanced," he continued. "We cannot hope to effect a cure. We can only hope to prolong life and usefulness."

JUDGE MIX MAY CITE
SIDENER FOR CONTEMPT

Refers in Address to Grand Jury, to Circuit Attorney's Remarks Published in Papers.

Attorney Jacob M. Lashly was selected this afternoon by the grand jury to conduct its investigation, begun at Judge Mix's request, into the failure of the Circuit Attorney's office to prosecute 11 criminal cases. The action was taken with the consent and cooperation of Circuit Attorney Sidener, who appointed Lashly a special assistant, to enable him to work with the grand jury. Lashly is a brother of Arthur V. Lashly, former Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County.

More than a year ago Thomas T. Fauntleroy was similarly appointed a special attorney to conduct an investigation of the Circuit Attorney's office. His inquiry resulted in an indorsement of the Circuit Attorney. Fauntleroy received $5000 from the city.

Among the witnesses summoned to testify before the jury in this investigation are:

Beverly Brown, saloonkeeper and professional bondsman.

Mike Cutler, a professional bondsman, now under indictment in connection with the substitution of a man for a defendant bonded by Cutler.

Walter Hell, plumber, charged with felonious carnal knowledge, one of the cases called to the attention of the jury by Judge Mix.

Vincent Virzic, jeweler, who was charged with arson, and dismissed on demurmer.

Judge Mix, in addressing the jury, took judicial notice of a statement issued by Circuit Attorney Sidener last Wednesday in reply to the court's instructions to the jury the day before. Judge Mix threatened contempt proceedings against the Circuit Attorney if similar statements were issued in the future.

In his statement answering Judge Mix, Sidener said:

"Let Little Boy Blue blow his horn. No one will hear it. I've got a whole brass band in the Circuit Attorney's office. When it plays, everybody listens."

Sidener denied that files were missing or mislaid in the 11 cases mentioned by Mix, and said all are in his office, where they belong. As to delay in prosecution of the 11 cases cited, Sidener said discretion power in these matters is completely with the Circuit Attorney, and he may continue or drop prosecution, whenever the evidence, in his opinion, warrants such action.

POLICEMAN AND TAXI DRIVER
KILLED BY CHICAGO GUNMEN

Shooting Affray Occurs in Tobacco Shop Where Policemen Were on Lookout.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Two men, one a policeman, were killed, and two others, including a policeman, were wounded in a South Side tobacco shop today in a shooting affair in which one of three assailants was described by the wounded policeman as Martin Durkin, fugitive police slayer. The attackers

The policeman had been spending the last five nights in the shop. Shortly after midnight, while they were talking to five loungers, the trio entered and the shooting began. It was thought the policemen had been assigned to the shop on a tip that Durkin might visit there.

James Carroll, policeman, and Ben Custer, a taxicab driver, were killed; James Henry, policeman, wounded, and Gus Soeldner, a lounging, slightly injured. Henry said Durkin was one of the men.

The shop is in an area known as the habitat of gangsters and is not far from the flat where Durkin escaped a police trap after killing a detective sergeant nearly a month ago.

Detective Chief Shoemaker, after questioning witnesses, said he doubted that Durkin led the killers. He admitted the policemen had been sent to the shop to anticipate Durkin.

George Howard, a porter in the shop, said the shooting began when the three men entered and ordered all to raise their hands. Carroll emptied his pistol at them before he was mortally wounded and Custer was shot as he stood to run. Henry attempted to stop them at the door as they left. Chief Shoemaker said his men had been ordered to remain outside the shop and had disobeyed him in entering the place.

SETTLEMENT OF LEASE ENDS LONG DISPUTE

Optometrist to Move From Eighth Street Store, on Site of New Building.

Thomas J. McWay, optometrist, will move from his office at 202 North Ninth street early next week after two months of disagreement over settlement of his lease, during which the Benoit Building, which housed the office, has been torn down, leaving his quarters standing alone.

McWay announced Wednesday that he had reached a settlement of the lease with Isaac T. Cook & Co., agents for Paul Brown & Co., which will erect a 16-story office building on the northeast corner of Ninth and Pine streets on the lot including the site of McWay's tiny office.

As it has been told, McWay and the builders failed to agree on a settlement of the lease, which still has 14 months to run at $15 a month. Finally the Cook company decided to leave his office standing and proceed to build the new structure without disturbing his quarters.

Under the settlement, McWay will move to the Republic Building at Seventh and Olive streets. He will also get a cash settlement, said to be slightly more than $5,000.

LOVE? BAH! SAYS WIFE OF ARCHITECT WRIGHT

Ten Years Ago They Defied World Together, Now She Wants Divorce.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The tragic loves of Frank Lloyd Wright, eminent architect, have been brought into the spotlight again by the announcement that his present wife, Mrs. Maud Noel Wright, has begun suit for divorce in Baraboo, Wis.
The charge is cruelty, and it is understood a stipulation was agreed upon fixing alimony at $250 a month, with a payment at once of $10,000.

Mrs. Wright, in tears, told of her troubles with the temperamental architect. "I made a mistake,"
she said, "and I have paid for it.
But I would do it all over again."

Fresh from Paris studios, where she studied sculpture, she accepted the married architect and accompanied him to his famous country home at Spring Green, Wis. This was a few months after Mrs.
Mamah Borthwick Cheney, another of the architect's flames, and her two children had been murdered
by a crazed negro servant.

Quite Different Now.

At that time the sculptress said:
"Frank Wright and I care nothing for what the world may think. We are as capable of making laws for ourselves as were the dead men who made the laws by which they hoped to rule the generations after them. There is perfect harmony between me and Mr. Wright."

Now she says: "Mine was a greater tragedy than Mamah Borthwick's. She is dead, but I live on. Oh, how I loved him."

"Mr. Wright and I were married long after Mamah Borthwick was killed and long after we had taken up our lives together. I left him last spring after he had mistreated me. This all happened at Tallensien after we had returned from seven years' exile in Japan to the love bungalow. Love nest? Bah!"

"After I left him he sued me for divorce at Baraboo, charging desition. And I had only left him to regain my health. We forced him to withdraw that bill and I have filed my petition asking divorce on the grounds of cruelty."

Married in 1922.

They were married in November, 1922, after the first Mrs. Wright, mother of his six children, had obtained a divorce.

Wright is recognized as one of the foremost architects in the world. One of his chief works is the Imperial Hotel in Tokio, which cost $3,000,000, and was one of the few buildings to withstand the earthquake. He is author of several books on architecture, and in Europe is known as founder of the "School of American Expression in Architecture." Aside from his work he came into prominent notice in 1909 when he abandoned his wife and six children in their Oak Park home and eloped with Mrs. Cheney, the wife of Edwin H.

Cheney of Oak Park. Then he and Mrs. Cheney took up their residence at the Spring Green bungalow, which he had fitted up at a cost of $80,000. For a time their love affairs were forgotten. In 1909 came the murder of Mrs. Cheney and the children and the burning of the home. Then the affair with the sculptress.

TALK OF IMPEACHING
EXECUTIVE HEARD

Her Husband, Strong Wit
Rural Voters, Was Removed From Governorship After Long Fight.

By JOHN E. MITCHELL
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World
AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 27.—Miriam Ferguson's enemies are reforming their ranks and awaiting the return of their leader, State Attorney-General Dan Moody from Washington. Her Thanksgiving proclamation of clemency to 100 prisoners is admitted to be a brilliant political sortie.

For a week she had sat beauteously in her office in the State Capitol. Bit by bit Attorney-General Moody's grand jury considered evidence of corruption in the highway commission. Speaker Lee Satterwhite drilled his 52 rebellious legislators. In Washington Earl B. Mayfield, Ku Klux Klan Senator, urged an inquiry by the Department of Justice. The session seemed drawn.

Gov. Ferguson's Thanksgiving gesture goes back to the days of feudal rulers who emitted the jail before feast days. No State executive, so far as is known here, ever did anything like it. It is a record.

Criticized for Pardons.
Next to the conduct of the Highway Commission, Gov. Ferguson has been most criticized for the readiness with which she has pardoned prisoners. In the ten months she has held office she has pardoned 1,125 criminals. With the attack upon her Highway Commission nearing its climax, she commanded the nearest thing to a jail delivery Texas has ever seen. The boldness with which she has defied her enemies has shaken them.

Yesterday she left gayly for College Station, 70 miles away, with dittering staff and whooping band, to receive the Governor's salute before the football game between Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and Texas University. The former won by 28 to 0. To Ferguson supporters it was an omen, for the quarrel between Texas University and her husband, former Governor James E. Ferguson, in 1917, was the immediate cause of his impeachment. Then Texas University was victorious and he was removed.

In Austin her opponents considered the pardons. Texas does not feel about pardons as New York does.

"We all were kind of easy on pardons," the Texan in khaki pants and two-foot hat will tell you. "At least we were until this Governor Pat Neff came along. He didn't grant any at all. So it appears like this Governor Ferguson lady was just obliged to grant some."

Old Men Pardoned.
Of the 105 persons to whom Gov. Ferguson yesterday extended clemency, 28 were sentenced for violations of the liquor law. R. W. Long of Howard County, for instance, who was convicted under it, was serving a sentence of four years. The minimum penalty for a violation of this law was one year, and about half the sentences were for two years. The sentence indicated in one case was a year.

A number of prisoners freed by Gov. Ferguson were more than 50 years old; two were under 20. In the list were 13 murderers, seven convicted of criminal assault, nine of theft and eight of robbery with firearms. Seven of those pardoned were women.

No Texas newspaper seems to have been the panderer of 105 criminals. As nearly as can be learned, the citizens of Austin, at least, rather approve. They seem to admire the audacity of the act.

It is this flair for doing the unexpected, which made Farmer Jim Ferguson Governor back in 1914 and which now passes on to his wife, made her the first woman Governor in the United States 10 months ago. It is also the cause of the deeply rooted hostility which last removed Farmer Jim and which now threatens impeachment of his wife.

Ferguson's Career.
Ferguson, ex-railroad laborer, ex-farmer, ex-rancher, then a country banker and newspaper owner, stamped the State in 1914. His administration glorified. It was the time of the Mexican troubles. He negotiated directly with Gen. Carranza and sent his own troops, the hard-riding Texas Rangers, against the patriot bandit, Pancho Villa.

He was belligerently a man of

More Relief for Burk Family.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I AM enclosing my check for $2 to be given to the unfortunate woman, Mrs. Eura Burk, of whom I read in your paper this evening. I believe you said she had four small children, and was described by her husband.

I shall appreciate your courtesy in sending to her my tiny bit toward alleviating her suffering.

MRS. CARL E. FINCH.

(The money has been forwarded to Mrs. Burk. The news item mentioned eight children, and that her husband is in a hospital at Rolla, Mo.—Editor Post-Dispatch.)

Why Kill the White Goose?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

A RECENT mention was made in your paper of a rare type of white Canadian goose which has been killed this fall, with the suggestion that it may have been attracted to the scene of its death in search for its mate which had been shot previously in about the same locality.

This calls to our mind your previous mention of the shooting of the big white goose who for three years had led a flock of gray geese to and from the north lakes across our country. Our sense of sportsmanship may be distorted but we confess we do not see in the killing of such a rare bird as a white goose, anything of which one could feel proud. If it were an unusually large specimen of a goose of the color of most other geese then we see how one might be thrilled in capturing it, knowing that it could be replaced. But a white goose is so rare that it would seem that it might soon become extinct.

We noted the great size of these white geese and are doubtful if in either instance the geese were as fine for food purposes as smaller gray geese would have been. From what we read we infer that it was not primarily because the hunter wished the bird for food that he shot the white goose, but more in the spirit of trying to see if he could outwit him, and really could shoot him. This call to mind how when boy, the writer took a bow gun and crept up on a robin and how, after several trials and much waiting, he finally did succeed in hitting the robin. Then, when he saw the robin lying before him and remembered how beautiful he had appeared a minute before, flying about, a sense of humiliation crept over him, which will never be forgotten.

We wonder just how one would feel when he saw a flock of gray geese start off south without its white leader, which for three years had piloted them across country, an object of such great curiosity and interest, and then realized that but for him this big white traveler might still be leading his flock. F. W. MOODY.

The Front Door Rule.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THIS new front door entrance rule is certainly a dumb change for the United Railways to pull off on its patrons. Do they expect it to save time or save money? How in the world can they, during rush hours when they get all passengers jammed in the rear and cannot go either way, where before we had two ways of getting off? Now you can throw anything in the box and get off.

What has happened to the Vandeventer line? It seems as though they have taken all but about four cars off that line.

A DISCOURAGED RIDER, BUT AN AUTO OWNER SOON.

Joseph Littau,

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I HAVE just finished reading Mr. Stokes' article on "Radio Putting Bright on Music Recitals." I have Mr. Joseph Littau in mind, and it is a shame for St. Louis to lose this man. Music is an art and he loves it as it should be loved, not to be made a joke of. Here we have 10 good musicians—that is, our orchestra—who have been together the past 20 years, and when I say musicians, I mean it.

The part that it has been my pleasure to have the best movie orchestras in Chicago, and I can truthfully say Mr. Littau's orchestra was the best in any in Chicago. I am sorry to see Mr. Littau go, and hope he will be able to find someone who will give him an orchestra such as he deserves, and a job to his standard.

A Bad Rider Says—

THE article written by "Reader for 15 Years" was worth reading, and up to date I agree with him that the bus system is first-class; but a few months back, I can't accept anything up-to-date, so let them continue to forever ride on overcrowded, poorly ventilated street cars.

MRS. DU B.

THE ITALIAN DICTATOR.

Modern Italy is dead. The bones of Garibaldi, Cavour and Mazzini lie a-moldering in their graves and their spirit no longer marches on. The institutions they created are razed. There is but one God in Italy—Fascism—and Mussolini is its prophet.

The legislative program which he presented at the reopening of the Chamber of Deputies a few days ago makes the Premier legal dictator. To the demands that they surrender their personal and political liberties the Deputies responded with cheers. "The parliamentary system, necessary in the last century, is insufficient under modern conditions," Mussolini declared. Under the new Constitution it will, in effect, be abolished.

Hereafter the nomination and recall of Ministers rests with the Premier. He is responsible only to the crown—not to the King and Parliament as formerly.

No bill shall be presented in Parliament except with the Premier's consent, and any bill rejected by the Senate or Chamber may be introduced again after a period of three months and must be voted on in secret session. In other words no bill objectionable to the Premier can be submitted, and any bill he wants passed will be passed.

Any attempt against the life, integrity or liberty of the Premier shall be punished with imprisonment from 10 to 20 years; if successful the sentence will be life imprisonment.

Any citizen who offends the Premier by word or act shall be punished by imprisonment from six months to two and one-half years and a fine of from $100 to $1000 lire.

Any Italian abroad who disturbs public order or assails the good name or prestige of Italy shall be liable to loss of citizenship and confiscation of property.

Strikes and lockouts are both forbidden.

This is in substance the Mussolini program. It is, of course, sheer absolutism. It strips the Italian people of their last shred of freedom.

All this is the logical culmination of the philosophy preambled by Mussolini on his seizure of power when he declared liberty an illusion. It did not seem possible then and it is almost incredible in this day of democracy's ascendancy and royalty's faded and precarious tenure that such an obsolete regime could be resurrected. But this strange character, warrior and dreamer, fable and reality, gas bag and iron resolution, who was to strut a little hour, has conquered his country.

There has, to be sure, been service in his conquest.

He did introduce courage and decision into a Government that was palsied with political cowardice and intrigue. He freed the Italian people from the helplessness and impoverishment of chaotic radicalism. He saved their body. Now he is destroying their soul.

Most of us used to think that the exile of Doorn, in his palmy days and balmiest moods, was the worst case of royal swelled head since the Grand Louis. Mussolini endures William Hohenzollern with something like indifference. Mussolini out-Bismarck Bismarck. The genealogists have traced his lineage back to Julius Caesar. The transmigrationists may see in Mussolini a reincarnated Tiberius. But perhaps somewhere in that ancient land another Tacitus is dipping his pen in immortal ink.

A CHEER FOR WASHINGTON.

That was a great game on Francis Field yesterday. A team's courage might well have oozed with the cold, sticky mud that plastered it from cleats to headgear. But it was this gray, drizzly day that Washington chose for triumph. Halfbacks slowed down, safety men fumbled punts, runners heartbreakingly dropped the ball after long dashes, but Washington fought on. The team literally rooted its way within striking distance of Grinnell's goal and after one unsuccessful attempt scored by a kick from the field. Washington, beaten in every conference game for two years, was at last a winner—outplaying Grinnell in three-quarters of the contest.

It takes rare football spirit to win like this. Washington, hitherto the weak sister of the Missouri Valley Conference, came back yesterday. Her supporters can look forward to next season most hopefully. The real, red-blooded, rip-em-up fight is there. The spirit is willing. For that we give a cheer. Let us pray for good men, tall and strong, in the Washington line next year, for fast, shifty halfbacks and a fullback who can hit tackle like a charging bull. We hope, too, for the usual complement of Phi Beta Kappa material, but just now among Washington's supporters the cry is for football players.

OUR INTERCOURSE WITH KINGS.

On the announcement in the United States of the death of Queen Alexandra last week the following cable message was dispatched to King George V:

The sad intelligence of the death of Your Majesty Queen Alexandra, your mother, has impressed Mrs. Coolidge and me with profound sorrow. We desire to extend to Your Majesty our sincere condolences and brotherly sympathy.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Aside from the appropriateness of condolences in the circumstances the incident is of interest as evidence of how far the Federal Government has strayed from its original institutional simplicity in the last 25 or 30 years.

The standing practice up to 1896 in our intercourse with foreign sovereigns in the matter of condolences and congratulations was to use the channel of the State Department, which communicated with our Minister at the particular court, who in turn communicated with the Imperial Foreign Office. In addition, our Minister abroad had standing discretion to offer on fitting occasions congratulations or condolences in the name of the Government and people, as well as of the President of the United States. Thus Secretary Bayard said in 1888:

Under our system the President does not occupy the personal position of a titular sovereign. His relations with such sovereigns are official and in representation of the people of the United States, and not of the directly personal character usual in the intercourse of monarchs among themselves.

With the close of the last Cleveland administration in 1896 the old impersonal custom began to crumble. It was "the President of the Government of the United States" who began to convey his sentiments directly. Now it is not the President at all but Calvin Coolidge personally.

It is one of pertinent anomalies in our diplomatic system that in 1893 we instituted the rank of Ambassador, who all not his Government or people, but the person of his ruler. It was coincident with this change that the President of the United States took a directly personal character in his intercourse with foreign monarchs.

A SENATOR ON CIVIL SERVICE.

Senator W. B. Pine, Republican, of Oklahoma, recently told a gathering of his constituents that civil service is a failure, and that the whole Federal Government should be responsible to the administration. This startling statement was made in support of Senator J. W. Harrel's effort to reinstate a prohibition enforcement officer who had been dropped in the reorganization of that force. Harrel predicated his fight on the ground that dropping the officer would offend many of his constituents, and jeopardize his chances of renomination and re-election.

However, it remained for Senator Pine, himself an accident of politics, whose election was made possible by Democratic votes, alienated from their party standard by the nomination of J. C. Walton, impeached Governor, on the Democratic ticket last year, to go the full distance and demand all spoils for the victor. He not only claimed that as a political right, but sought to justify it on the grounds of greater efficiency in government and reduced expense.

Senator Pine is a rich man, who can afford to be United States Senator. But most of his wealth was made in oil, and he seems never to have heard of the economic principle of loss in labor turnover, although it is unlikely that even the owner of gushers would select his private employees according to the way they voted, or because of their influence in the Second Ward.

At a time when the Republican majority in the Senate is jeopardized by an approaching election it might be well for the leaders of that party to provide Maxim silencers for some of the Republicans now holding office in that great deliberative body. It is prejudicial to the dignity of an august assemblage to see a member opening his mouth and putting his foot in it.

AN EXPERT ON PUBLIC OPINION.

Mr. Dawes disagrees with the popular idea that bills killed by a filibuster are usually bills condemned by public sentiment. In an article in the Saturday Evening Post, where he discusses reform of the Senate rules, he cites the Muscle Shoals bill, which suffered that fate in the last Senate session. "Who," he asks, "is authorized to state what the public sentiment of the United States is on this bill?" He then cites seven other bills which failed as a result of the Muscle Shoals filibuster, and puts the same question as to them. "Who is authorized to state public sentiment upon these bills?"

We do not know who is so authorized unless it be the Vice President himself. He has set himself up as an expert on public opinion, as witness the close of his article. After summing up his denunciation of the system by which debate is conducted in the Senate, he says: "It is wrong. It is un-American. And, in my judgment, the American people demand that the Senators abolish it." If such a demand has been made by the American people we have not heard of it, and we can only conclude that Mr. Dawes has some special occult way of plumbing public sentiment.

FROM ONE WHO KNOWS THEM.

People who wonder what the world is coming to, and fear for the future of the race, because of the waywardness of modern youth, may find some encouragement in the words of Judge Ben B. Lindsey of Denver. This eminent jurist of the first juvenile court doesn't despair at all, after years of contact with recalcitrants who come his way. It may be assumed that he has seen more of the seamy side of adolescence, more of the incorrigibles of childhood than most men, and yet he faces the future unafraid.

Judge Lindsey told an Omaha audience recently that the boys and girls of today are the best boys and girls the world has ever known. He recognizes in them "what the State shall be 10, 20, 30 years from now," but thinks that future depends more upon how the State shall discharge its duty toward those boys and girls today, than on anything else. Out of his years of experience, he sees no reason why the nation or the earth should be disheartened at the outlook.

The apostles of gloom may continue unconvinced, because, perhaps, youth is different than it was when they were young. Obviously there is a crime problem, and so many criminals are youthful. Yet here is a man who greets the erring ones in court, and refuses to lose confidence. That, at least, should relieve hysteria. We live in a changing world, and need not expect each generation to follow the footsteps of its predecessors. And those with retentive memories must recall that youth is ever the impulsive, adventurous age.

With that fact recognized, it must be apparent that many of those who shock their elders now will be conservative with the years, and be shocked in turn by those who follow. It is the way of the world. And, if we are fair with youth, we must concede it is a minority, after all, that occasions the uneasiness, and that well-behaved young people are no novelty in this day. Judge Lindsey is optimistic in his view of youth, and which is more important, he is sane.

Judge Lindsey told an Omaha audience recently that the boys and girls of today are the best boys and girls the world has ever known. He recognizes in them "what the State shall be 10, 20, 30 years from now," but thinks that future depends more upon how the State shall discharge its duty toward those boys and girls today, than on anything else. GIRL INJURED IN LEAP
OUT OF A MOVING AUTO

Matilda Goeddel, 19, Fractures Skull in Escape From Youths in Car.

Miss Matilda Goeddel, 19 years old, of 2317 South Tenth street suffered a fractured skull and left cheek bone when she leaped from a moving automobile at Broadway and Barton street at 2 a. m. yesterday.

Patrolman John Burke witnessed the incident and arrested three youths who were in the car, and who said they were Earl Vortriebe, 22 years old, 2919 Wisconsin avenue; John Horner, 21, 2314A Sylvania street, and Norman Burns, 22, 2317 Peacock street.

Miss Oleda Killian, 17, of 2309 South Ninth street, who also was in the car, told police she and Miss Goeddel had attended a show and were waiting for a street car at Sixth and Olive streets when the youths in the machine invited them to ride. Miss Killian knew one of them, and the invitation was accepted. Miss Goeddel sitting with the driver, Vortriebe, and the others sitting in the rear.

Hours later, as they drove south in Broadway, after a tour of the city, Miss Killian's companions made advances, so she alleged, and she screamed, whereupon Miss Goeddel leaped from her front seat to the street.

TERMS TO END COAL STRIKE
SUGGESTED BY COMMITTEE

Propose 50-Cent Increase to Lowest Paid Workers and Revision of Piece-Work Rates.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The committee on coal and giant power, comprised of engineers, economists, lawyers and business men from all parts of the country, has announced the issuance of a suggestion for a basis on which to settle the strike in the anthracite fields. The plan, which has been sent to officials of both the miners and operators, contains the following suggestions:

A wage increase of 50 cents a day for the lowest paid miners, that is day workers, who now receive between $4.02 and $5.96 a shift.

No price increase over the average 1924-25 pre-strike prices for companies showing over 10 per cent return for that period.

An increase of 25 cents a ton on only domestic sizes of coal. This, it is explained, would cover the cost entailed by the increased wages.

A revision of all piece work rates, both those now above the average and below the average annual earnings of $3,000.

A check off of regular union dues only by operators of mines where a ballot of all the workers shows a two-thirds vote in favor of it.

Immediate appointment of a committee by the operators and miners to work out an adjustment of piece work rates, and to supervise the balloting on the establishment of the check off.

GOVERNMENT TO BUY BONDS DIRECTLY FROM HOLDERS

Plans to Avoid Brokerage Charges in Taking Up $50,000,000 of Third Liberty Loan.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The Treasury today attempts for the first time in modern financing the experiment of dealing directly with the holders of Government securities in making purchases of bonds for retirement from the sinking fund.

Between today and Dec. 10, the Treasury will buy bonds of the Third Liberty Loan up to $50,000,000 as the first step in determining the feasibility of an arrangement between Government security holders and the Government itself. It will buy at the lowest prices offered, but will pay as high as 101 1/4 and accrued interest. Payment for the bond accepted will be made Dec. 29.

Under the plan, the bondholder will deposit his security with a bank or trust company as the means of setting up motion machinery which will stop when the Treasury's acceptance results in payment direct to the owner. Brokerage charges thus will be eliminated both for the security holder and for the Treasury.

ARMY AMMUNITION RESERVE SUPPLY FOUND DEFECTIVE

Ten-Year Replacement Plan Urged by Defense Board Would Cost $300,000,000.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Defects in the war stock of army ammunition now held in reserve are disclosed in the annual report of Major-General C. C. Williams, Chief of Ordnance.

The condition of the reserve stock of ammunition has been a growing source of worry to the War Department and a project for building up the reserve through a 10-year replacement program has been worked out which involves around $300,000,000.

Efforts during the year to develop a cross-country, ditch-jumping caterpillar tractor car for reconnaissance work were without success, Gen. Williams said, but remarkable results were obtained with a Ford touring car chassis, equipped with balloon tires, bucket seats and a low-speed gearshift.

gust, where he had served a term for writing an obscene letter to a woman, repeated the offense.

STATE CAN'T MEET
NOVEMBER PAYROLL

Only $5000 in General Revenue Fund to Pay Salaries Totaling $215,000.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 27.—The "ghost" will not walk the first of December for State employees whose salaries are paid from the general revenue fund due to the depleted condition of that fund. Payment of these salaries will be delayed by the State until about Dec. 10 or 15.

Salaries chargeable against the general revenue fund total about $215,000 a month. At the Treasurer's office it was stated the balance in the general revenue fund on the last of November would not exceed $5000. This is without payment of November salaries.

Auditor to Hold Up Warrants.

The State Auditor plans to hold up warrants for salaries chargeable to general revenue until money is in the treasury. This holding up of warrants will prevent employees from discounting their salary accounts at banks, unless they make special arrangements for assignments. Employees whose salaries are chargeable to special funds will be paid, when the bulk of the tax collections come in the State Treasury. The bills and payrolls averages about $550,000 a month.

Baker Blames Legislature.

Gov. Baker charges the depletion of the revenue fund to failure of the 1925 Legislature to pass three tax increase bills. However, the Governor made no fight for the bills after sending them to the House and they failed to pass even the Republican House of Representatives. Some of the State officials, while evading quotation on a matter involving criticism of the Governor, felt that Baker overestimated the anticipated revenues and should have vetoed more items after the Legislature made its appropriations. They point out that Baker accepted the revenue estimates of the State Tax Commission without conferring with other State officers familiar with State revenues.

Recurrence of Trouble Indicated.

The commission's estimates were about $2,000,000 over the revenue now expected for the biennial period, it was said. Back salaries and bills from 1924 will be paid when the 1925 tax collections are turned in next January, but this will cut down the money available for 1925. The Treasury Department indicated the State would have difficulty in meeting its payrolls after next August.

CANCER CLOSELY RELATED TO NUTRITION, SCIENTISTS CLAIM

Diseases Produced in Rats Lacking in Vitamin A, According to Japanese Research.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 27.—Dr. Arthur Bliss Dayton, assistant dean of the Yale Medical School, who has just returned from the Orient, today described researches on cancer made by Japanese scientists. Scientists of the National Nutrition Institute of Japan reported at a conference on tropical medicine at Tokyo, attended by Dr. Dayton, that they had been able to produce cancer in rats by giving them food deficient in vitamin A.

This is the first time that so close a connection between cancer and nutrition has been established, and the second time that cancer has been produced experimentally in living organs, Dr. Dayton said. The relation between the disease and feeding is expected to have vital influence on the future study of cancer.

Attempts by nations of the East to wipe out beri-beri, a disease from which thousands of Orientals die annually and which results from deficient diet, also were described by Dr. Dayton. It is now agreed that beri-beri prevails chiefly among people who eat highly polished rice. Hence the scientists of the 19 countries represented at the conference on tropical medicine adopted resolutions calling on their Governments to pass legislation forbidding excessive milling of rice. With the adoption and enforcement of the proposed legislation, according to Dr. Dayton, medical men are convinced that the end of beri-beri is in sight.

BACHELOR A MOST HELPFUL CREATURE, LADY ASTOR SAYS

"If Married Women Look at One They Get More Reconciled to Own Husband."

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Lady Astor paid tribute to the old maid and expressed sympathy for the bachelor in her remarks as presiding officer at the final session of the Social Insurance Conference yesterday.

"The bachelor is the most helpful creature that ever was," Lady Astor declared. "He is the one thing making matrimony possible. If married women look at a bachelor they get a little more reconciled to their own husbands."

Lady Astor said she couldn't say the equivalent about the old maids. They carried on the work of the world, whereas the bachelors got crotchetty and narrower as they got older concentrate," she added. "Old maid—she poor, lonely woman, the older she gets the lonelier he becomes."

DISCUSSES POINTS OF LAW INVOLVED IN CITY PROBLEMS

Dr. Isidor Loeb of Washington U. Gives His Third Lecture to League of Women Voters.

Legal aspects of the public problems of modern large cities were discussed by Dr. Isidor Loeb of Washington University in the third of a series of lectures on the Constitution at the University's medical school auditorium, Scott and Euclid avenues, under auspices of the League of Women Voters.

Dr. Loeb, dean of the University's school of Finance and Commerce, and professor of Political Science, discussed problems specifically, after first tracing the development of cities, to their present character. First, he dealt with the tendency in most states to give undue influence to rural members in legislative bodies of the Legislature. In Missouri this is true, he pointed out, for St. Louis, with nearly a fourth of the State's population, has only an eighth of the Representatives in the lower house, and has only six State Senators instead of the eight indicated by the population.

The speaker told of the home-rule charter plan for big cities, but said:

"The home rule charter in Missouri has not resulted in the establishment of complete local self-government.

Provisions Obscure.

"The Constitution provides that all such charters shall be in harmony with and subject to the Constitution and laws of the State. As regards St. Louis it is also provided that the Legislature shall have the same power that it has over other cities. These provisions are obscure and difficult of construction.

"It is clear that the Legislature may still enact laws that will be binding upon the city regardless of its charter provisions. But it was just as clear that it was the intention to restrict this power of the Legislature.

"It became the duty of the Supreme Court to decide in what cases the home rule charter was independent of, and when it was subject to, legislative control. The court has not been entirely clear or consistent in the performance of this difficult function. In matters of general State concern, such as police, health, taxation, elections, public utilities, education, etc., legislative acts take precedence of charter provisions, while in purely local affairs the charter controls.

City Treated as a County.

"The City of St. Louis is treated as a county. As all county affairs are of general State concern, all laws relating to this subject are superior to any charter provisions. Cities have found it constantly necessary to appeal to Legislatures for additional grants and city charters have continued to expand in size and detailed character."

Dr. Loeb next took up the idea of better municipal government which motivated the separation of St. Louis and St. Louis County in 1876. He told of the work of the Board of Freeholders, now seeking to draft a plan of metropolitan expansion for St. Louis. He went on:

"As county organization was designed for the needs of rural communities, it is particularly unsuited to conditions in our large cities. Inefficiency and corruption in county government in urban communities is not uncommon. The expansion of the urban population of St. Louis until it overflowed into the county has raised the problem anew. Similar to this problem is that arising where two parts of a metropolitan community are in different states. This is true of both St. Louis and Kansas City. State Police Power.

"The State possesses the police power and its exercise is not restricted by constitutions or provisions regarding individual rights. The State may delegate this general police power or any portion of it to cities. Many measures which do not have any relation to public peace, safety, health or morals have been sustained as the proper exercise of the police power.

"The all-embracing term, 'general welfare,' is used to include the justification for such regulations as Sunday law, protection of wild game, limitations upon waste of natural gas and other resources, anti-trust laws, regulation of public utilities, restrictions upon noise and offensive odors, etc. While these have been recognized as proper objects of the police power, the courts have not been nearly so

C. & E. I. WANTS A NICKNAME

Railroad Willing to Pay for a Catchy Title.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—A 60-year-old railroad with more than 950 miles of trackage wants a nickname. It already has a corporate name, The Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railway Co., but T. C. Powell, its new president, desires a popular, catchy title. It must be something that looks well on cars, letterheads, advertising and dividend checks.

Hunter Accidentally Killed.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MCLEANSBORO, Ill., Nov. 27.—John Odle was accidentally shot and killed instantly by Frank Maurer yesterday while the men were hunting quail five miles southwest of McLeansboro. Odle and Maurer, both of whom reside at West Frankfort, had spent the morning hunting and had decided to move to a place where the game was more plentiful. The men had reached their car and Maurer was wiping off the guns preparatory to departing when the automatic shotgun in his hands was discharged.

use of property or subject the property owner to great expense.

Administrative Difficulties.

"While the constitutional question has been favorably answered," said the speaker, "administrative difficulties remain, and, as St. Louisans can testify, compilation of a smoke law has not been satisfactorily prevented. This is another example of the fact that administration frequently is of more importance than legislation."

While courts have held that objectionable noises and odors may be abated, they have not been so liberal about things that offend the eye. Dr. Loeb declared, with reference to unsightly billboards.

Aesthetic considerations have not been accepted as coming properly under the police power. Courts have held that regulations merely to protect the public from signs that displease the eye invaded the rights of private property, but have upheld laws against immoral signs those inciting to disorder or signs affecting public health and safety. Missouri enacted the first satisfactory billboard law, regulating size and location of billboards, and the State Supreme Court upheld it.

"Little need for planning appears in the early history of a city," Dr. Loeb continued, "as natural tendencies are usually sufficient to prevent unsatisfactory conditions. Industries and railroads usually locate along the lower levels where transportation is not so difficult. Business units tend to concentrate in compact areas for the convenience of customers and other advantages.

Districting of Cities.

"Residences are to be found in the higher districts, removed from close contact with industrial activities and enjoying the benefits of better air, less noise, etc. Some of the more objectionable industries locate on the outskirts, where they will be free from complaints arising from the character of their activities.

"As the city grows, however, these natural tendencies suffer modification. Business expansion encroaches upon the residence district. Residences move farther out and come into contact with the outer industrial activities. Certain business units which find it advantageous to be near the consumer move into the new residence area. The same is true of schools and churches.

The coming of the automobile has led to a similar movement on the part of garages and filling stations. The increased cost of real estate and other problems promotes the building of flats and large apartment houses, which reduce the value of separate homes in the district which they invade.

"To a certain extent these difficulties are avoided by foresight in placing restrictions in deeds when new residence subdivisions are placed on the market. These frequently are inadequate and in any case cannot affect adjacent or other districts.

Attitude of Courts.

"The demand accordingly arises for government regulation in the interest of better living conditions, protection of property values and preservation and promotion of the general appearance of the city.

"So far as regulations that appear to be necessary for public health, safety or morals are concerned these are sustained by the courts under the general doctrine of nuisance as a proper exercise of the police power, even where they involve great expense and even total loss to individuals. Building regulations designed to insure safe construction and proper sanitary conditions are valid.

"Powder magazines, contagious hospitals, slaughter houses, fertilizing plants, places of ill fame, etc., have always been subjected to such provisions even in cases where they were located in the district before it was a part of the city. Exclusion of saloons and livery stables from residence districts comes under the same general rule.

"More than 80 years ago the Missouri Supreme Court held invalid the St. Louis ordinance which undertook to establish a 40-foot building line for Forest Park place. The courts of other states also have held similar provisions unconstitutional. While some have intimated that the regulation would be valid if it extended to eminent domain, that is, if individuals were given compensation in taking of their property to the extent provided, they are uniform in holding that the ordinances as enacted amount to a taking of property without due process of law.

Building Heights.

"Insofar as restriction on building heights or offensive industries or occupations are concerned there is little question regarding zoning ordinances. General zoning ordinances, however, apply to industries that do not come under the general conception of nuisances. The question here involved is whether they may be restricted to certain areas on the general theory that their inclusion in residence zones is objectionable to such an extent as to justify this exercise of the police power."

Senator's Wife Hurt in Auto.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Simeon D. Fess, wife of Senator Fess of Ohio, was taken to a hospital here today for examination of injuries suffered in an automobile accident near Uniontown, Pa., last Wednesday. The car in which the Senator and several members of his family were coming to Washington, left the road on a steep grade and was badly damaged. No one but Mrs. Fess was injured, and a

ST. LOUIS ON PROPOSED
POSTAL PLANE ROUTE

Glover Approves Representative Kelly's Plan for Kansas City to Pittsburg Line.

Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—St. Louis will be connected with Kansas City and Pittsburg in a day flight postal air route next summer, according to a plan Representative M. Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania has explained to Assistant Postmaster-General W. Irving Glover, who has charge of the air mail service. Glover approved the plan, saying that the Postoffice Department would ask for bids for the private contract service as soon as the postmaster of the cities concerned filed the necessary paper.

Kelly Introduced Air Bill.

Representative Kelly has been the victim of the irony of politics. At the instance of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce he introduced the bill authorizing the Postmaster-General to make contracts with individuals and corporations for the transportation of air mail. It was under the authority of this act that the St. Louis-Chicago route to connect with the transcontinental service was made possible.

The Pittsburg group, however, until recently had failed to take advantage of the law and as a result the department has authorized 16 routes in other sections of the country.

Kelly told Glover today that the need for a Pittsburg to Kansas City route has developed particularly because it would have a day between the two points.

Under the Postoffice Department's proposed schedule a plane would leave Pittsburg every morning, reaching St. Louis by 1 p.m. in time for early afternoon delivery and Kansas City by 3 p.m. in time for the last delivery that day. Letters mailed in Kansas City in the morning, in turn, would be delivered in Pittsburg late the same day. This would mean a saving of 24 hours over the fastest trains each way.

Revenue of $640 Daily.

Postoffice Department officials report that 1000 pounds of first-class mail is carried daily in each direction between Pittsburg and St. Louis and Kansas City. They estimate that at least one-fifth of this mail would use the faster air route. The air-mail contractors would receive $3.20 a pound for their freight. This would assure them, in the opinion of officials, a minimum revenue of $640 a trip for a 200-pound cargo, more than enough to pay expenses.

Iowa Congressman Describes Agricultural Situation in His State as Depressing.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Describing the agricultural situation as "distressing," Representative Boles, Republican of Iowa, declared to-day that unless Congress was ready to give some relief farmers might retaliate by an attack on the tariff and a strike on manufacturers.

"I do not mean to say this will be done," he said, "it is the mood of many farmers. Their prices have collapsed, but the freight rate, interest rate and the prices of goods they must buy from manufacturers have stayed up."

Boles said he would co-operate with Senator Cummins, Republican of Iowa, and other members of the State delegation in their efforts to secure the administration's approval of a bill which would provide for regulation and control of surplus farm crops.

PASSENGER MISSING AT SEA

S. Parker Bremer, Head of Boston
Concern, Left Note to Firm.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—S. Parker Bremer of Boston, head of the dry goods and cotton firm of Parker Wilder & Co., and member of an old Massachusetts family, was missed from the Furness-Bermuda liner, Fort Victoria, as that vessel, delayed by heavy seas, steamed toward New York from Bermuda yesterday.

The room steward early yesterday found Bremer's stateroom deserted and a note on the table which read: "Please notify Parker Wilder & Co., 215 Fourth avenue, New York and Boston."

Bremer's clothing was hanging on a chair. Apparently he had left his stateroom in pajamas. Mrs. Bremer, who was awaiting him here, said her husband had been depressed over financial reverses. "He was the head," she said, "of the largest cotton concern in Boston and had heavy responsibilities and was worried. But his letters from Bermuda had been reassuring. He seemed to be well again." Passengers said they had seen Bremer pacing the deck, deeply worried.

He was 49 years old and worked at a box factory as a laborer. His widow and four children survive. Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow at an undertaking establishment at 2623 Cherokee

Two Killed When Auto Overturns.

By the Associated Press.
TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 27.—Two persons were killed and three others were injured when an automobile turned over on a curve within the city limits of Safety Harbor last night. The dead: Mrs. R. J. Romp of Medina, N. Y., who was instantly killed, and J. R. Millard of Albany, N. Y., who died after being taken to a hospital.

Root, besides being cashier of the bank, is the township school treasurer. There have been no charges made against him, no one has charged that he had any bad habits, such as speculation or otherwise. Mrs. Root's national activities involved much traveling, a higher social position, and Root, too, had grown in the financial and social world. Not even the bank has suggested prosecuting Root, it is understood, and his financial troubles have been attributed by some local people to nothing more than living beyond his income.

The bank statement was said to be between $12,000 and $14,000, but Perry said the property Root turned over to the bank was valued at $2,000. B. O. Jeffers, who was assistant cashier, has succeeded Root as cashier.

O'REILLY PROVES STAR IN BILLIKENS' VICTORY OVER VERMONT

Quarterback Goes Over For Only Touchdown in Second Period of Game

St. Louis U. Proves Stronger Than Visiting Eleven—Local Line Shows Real Strength, Especially on Defense
—Ramacciotti Again Injured.

By John H. Alexander.

The St. Louis University football team wound up its 1925 season by plunging and skating in the mud to a 7-0 victory over the University of Vermont yesterday at St. Louis U. Field, before a rainy day crowd of about 4,000. It was the first triumph for the Billikens out of three inter-sectional games with Eastern institutions, Army and Carnegie Tech having beaten the locals.

Playing condition could hardly have been worse. The mud was several inches deep and by the end of the game the gridiron was spotted with towels which had been thrown out to remove the mud packs from the players' faces.

Billikens Strong Team.

The Billikens were easily the stronger team on the field and outdistanced the visitors considerably. The line, weak all season, showed real strength, especially on defense and protected O'Reilly well on his punts. The Vermont line, on the other hand, could not withstand the charges of the Billikens forwards and several of Smith's kicks were blocked.

Fumbles were too frequent to keep track of and the locals, by their following of the ball, profited markedly.

O'Reilly scored the only touchdown of the game. He made a nice runback of Smith's punt to midfield and then sprinted through guard for 15 yards. Lewis and Rippstein carried the ball to the 25-yard line, where it was lost on a fumble. On Smith's attempt to punt out of danger, Wenter blocked the effort on the two-yard line and O'Reilly went over in three plays. He also kicked the extra point. The tally came at the beginning of the second quarter.

Again toward the close of the half the Billikens threatened, but the score did not develop. Simon picked up a Vermont fumble on the 45-yard line. O'Reilly, Rippstein and Lewis, by straight football, rushed the ball to the eight-yard line, where it was lost on a fumble. By playing a punting game, the visitors held off a score until the half ended.

Vermont Almost Scores.

Vermont put the Billikens on the defensive in the third period and a lengthy exchange of punts, aided by a 25-yard runback by Conway, put the ball in St. Louis' possession on their one-yard line at the start of the fourth quarter. Here O'Reilly punted out and Conway returned 15 yards to the 18-yard line. Vermont seemed set to tie the score, but a fumble again intervened and O'Reilly again kicked out of danger. The ball was in the neighborhood of midfield as the game ended.

Frank Ramacciotti ended his flashy college career with a thud. The captain and fullback was in the opening lineup, but on the fourth play took the count and was removed to the bench from where he watched the remainder of the contest.

"Ram" was presented with a watch by representatives of the student body prior to the opening of the game and Coach Savage was honored in a similar manner. Ramacciotti, who in his first two seasons on the team was the big ground gainer and a consistent box-office attraction with his thrilling runs, had a bad season this year.

An exposed nerve ailment in his shoulder spread to his neck as the season wore on and left him virtually incapacitated for action. His presence in the lineup has been limited all year and the missing punch, abetted by a flood of other injuries, has given the Billikens one of the most unsuccessful seasons in recent years. They won two games, tied one and lost six.

O'Reilly Supplies Spark.

Jack O'Reilly has been the spark that kept the Billiken machine going and Rippstein, another lightweight, has been indispensable. Lewis was out most of the year with a cracked collar bone and Field and a rookie, has done lots of heavy work. A large freshman squad, in which some have already begun to show high caliber, and the return of a few players such as Field and Kennedy, a fast newcomer, give hope for next year. The backfield will be built around O'Reilly and the line around Carl Wenter at center.

Frank Ramacciotti ended his flashy college career with a thud. The captain and fullback was in the opening lineup, but on the fourth play took the count and was removed to the bench from

Nebraska Played Superbly to Beat His Team, Says Rockne

Huskers Took Advantage of Every Break, Scoring Twice in First Nine Minutes — Notre Dame Coach Praises His Team for Season's Showings.

By Knute Rockne, Coach of the Notre Dame Team.

(Copyright 1925.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—An inspired Nebraska team playing superb football in every branch beat a tired but fighting Notre Dame eleven yesterday, 17 to 0. The game was practically decided on the toss. Capt. Weir won and elected to take the wind which was blowing 20 miles an hour directly from the North. After receiving the kickoff Weir, on second down punted 65 yards, the ball stopping dead on Notre Dame's one-yard line.

Punting from behind his own goal line, Reach of Notre Dame fumbled his kick, which went out of bounds on his five-yard line. Three line plays failed for Nebraska, but on the fourth Rhodes circled right and established the identity of the team that will be invited by the Tournament of Roses officials to play the unbeaten Washington outfit at Pasadena on New Year's Day.

It is the writer's understanding that Pasadena had been wavering between Colgate and Alabama as their choice. Now it would appear that they need never more. Colgate has finished its season as one of five undefeated teams, but that Brown is somewhat deprecates this record.

Brown has been taking it on the jowl from all and sundry. Even Harvill, yet Colgate just managed to pull out a tie in the closing period.

Alabama, on the other hand, finished a season undefeated and unbroken, had its goal line crossed but once and ran up 277 points in nine games, an average of some 30 points per game. A team that can do that must have something more than a general idea of what the thing is all about.

Of course, Tulane can and will step forward to contest Alabama's claims, even to sectional leadership. The New Orleans entry also finished an undefeated season yesterday with a 14 to 6 victory over Centenary. Washington and Dartmouth, the remaining contenders for national honors already are all washed up for the season.

As for Alabama and Tulane, the latter can point with pride to the fact that it played a harder schedule than its Southern rival, meeting and beating, among others, Northwestern, Sewanee and Auburn. It also got a tie with Missouri, which is something that one does not sneeze at with impunity or without.

Passing Game Fails.

At the start of the third quarter Notre Dame marched down the field, making three first downs in succession. However, something would always happen to break the continuity of progress. O'Reilly's passes were wild. Out of 10 attempts only one was completed.

Three long passes just grazed the finger tips of the receivers.

Nebraska made six first downs in the first half but only one in the team at Chicago, yesterday, 21 to 0.

Tryon Will Not Play With 'Pro' Football Eleven

Colgate Captain Says Game With Brown Was His Final One.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Six elevens remained in full possession of the Eastern gridiron today after farewell appearances by several major teams in stirring Thanksgiving day struggles.

Tomorrow afternoon, Army and Navy will have their annual classic at the Polo Grounds. The cards are favorites. Lehigh and Carnegie at Pittsburg, Pa., and Holy Cross and Boston College at Boston offer the only other big closing games on the Eastern front.

Colgate almost suffered its first loss at the hands of battered Brown, but Eddie Tryon managed to pull his eleven together for a 14-10 tie. In doing so he returned his place at the top of the East's individual scores with a total of 100 points for the season.

"My final football game," said Eddie.

"I wouldn't play professional football if they offered me $10,000 a game."

At Columbia, uncertain throughout the season, yet high in hope as a result of its unexpected triumph over Army, trailed the footprints of Notre Dame. Next season I believe Notre Dame will again have a typical organization. However, this year's team has nothing but praise coming to it.

Passing Game Fails.

The Page A. C. of this city was defeated by the Block Triangles at Chicago, yesterday, 21 to 0.

Tryon will not play with "pro" football.

Grange Pleases Crowd Although He Fails to Score

Gains 109 Yards in Professional Debut—Earns $20,000—50,000 See Game.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Harold (Red) Grange's first game as a professional football player with the Chicago Cardinals yesterday was one of the hardest games he has ever played.

That was the impression after he made 109 yards in gains, thrilled 40,000 spectators by returning punts up to 30 yards. The game was a scoreless tie.

Grange made the longest gain from formation for either side, six yards, and made one of the first down for his team. Joe Sternaman, also a former University of Illinois player, made the other.

Fearful of the long runs that made the erstwhile Wheaton Ice man famous on college gridirons, the Cardinals directed their punts to any other sector except Grange's but he managed to grab three. At the finish he was sweeping around end on one of his characteristic sprits.

Grange received some $36,000 as his share of the receipts.

Both teams were made up of former college stars many of them former all-American selections. An effort to bring Elmer Layden, one of Notre Dame's "Four Horsemen" of last year, into the Cardinal line up failed because his father disdained him.

LEVY'S FIELD GOAL NETS PIKERS FIRST M. V. VICTORY SINCE 1923

Washington Captain Boots Winning Points With Only Three Minutes Remaining

Coach Higgins' Eleven Is Held on Three-Yard Line in Second Period — 6000 Persons Brave Elements to See Locals Defeat Grinnell.

By J. Walter Goldstein.

Just when it seemed as if the 1925 Washington University football team was to wade into inglorious oblivion, something happened on Francis Field yesterday afternoon that dehydrated the hopes of the Pikeley faithful and added the one colorful touch to a drab, drear and dismal season.

All this because a young man kicked the mud-jacketed football across 20 yards of water-logged terrain between the crossbars on Grinnell College's goalline. It was just one kick among many during the highly aqueous afternoon, but it brought three points and victory to a victory-starved eleven.

Now to the workshippers of the Pickleys and Dalys and Daltons and other kicking marvels a 30-yard placement kick is little to them about, but to the 6000 who braved yesterday's elements it was a momentous, masterful boot.

There were less than three minutes remaining of Capt. Charlie Levy's varsity gridiron career when he kicked the ball back to the 30-yard line and made it very obvious that he intended to use his right foot to some significant purpose. His teammates had pushed the ball half a dozen yards downfield, after receiving an impressive punt from the opposition and there were three yards to make first down in one lone effort. The Picklers scampered from their "bottle" resolved to trust to Charlie's kicking toe.

Levy Missed Shorter Kick.

Now this did not raise in the $600 assembled any great hopes for success. Less than five minutes earlier, Charley had essayed the same scoring route from a point 10 yards closer to the standards and in much better position. At that time the Picklers had been most meticulous in their preparations. The ball had been swathed in towels. The passer and the ball-holder had removed all traces of albulus oil from their hands and a brand-new pair of number twelves had been provided for the feet of Mr. Levy. There was as much preparation as might attend a debutante's coming-out party. The Kick, however, was low and blocked by the Grinnell forwards before it reached the line of scrimmage.

And so, as has been suggested this new place-kicking venture was not productive of much enthusiasm. The lack of preparation this time gave him that the Pickers themselves were not prepared for its success.

But the pass was true, the line held valiantly and Levy smashed his foot into the ball with 100 pounds of brawn and 10,000 pounds of determination behind it. Up and onward the ball sped, clear, the bars by a scant half foot, and the referee's arms waved.

Washington also seemed destined at one time to push a touchdown over the line. In the second period, immediately after making a beautiful 25-yard punt return, Harry ran through the Grinnell defense for 40 yards, carrying the ball to Grinnell's 10-yard mark. It was an amazing bit of broken field running, in view of the heavy going, although the Piker quarterback was ably aided and abetted by his blockers. The work on the part of his inferiors. With the picketing grounds just two chalk marks away, however, Hayes momentarily slipped and was pulled to the ground.

It was first down and goal to gain. Four lineouts resulted only seven yards and the ball was out to Grinnell. The Pikeley strategy board seemed guilty of some rather thick work at this point, as all four plays were sent into the middle of the line. Of course, with Grinnell's own defense playing in close to the forward wall they were readily stopped.

Moran Played Punt.

On two occasions it seemed as if a safety might decide the issue of the day. Washington in one instance was forced to punt and Levy dropped back, rush the ball out of danger. The pass from center was weak and rolled along the ground. Levy sensed the difficulty, ran up to meet the ball, grabbed it and ran around to his two-yard line before the onrushing Pioneers could stop him.

In the last quarter the same situation occurred, in Grinnell territory. Moran was preparing to kick from behind his standards and also received a poor pass. He duplicated the first effort, but returned to the five-yard line. This play evidently frustrated the visiting boisterous in a blaze of glory. Avis on end and the Pioneers and Thrasher in end also removed their gridiron toes for the last time under these hasty auspices.

With less than three minutes of Grinnell Outrushed Pickers.

Figures will show that Grinnell ushered in a few more first downs than Washington, but this is the line in which figures fail to tell the story. Washington went out on the field with orders to kick on the first down, regardless of their position, unless it was an acting receiving position. "Conserve your strength until you need it most," must have been a high command for the day as his henchmen headed for the day's big henches.

Third. The Pioneers came into possession they kicked immediately. This indeed was a mark of a hardship, because a number of Grinnell was out-punting both Levy and Hayes, the local favorite.

Grinnell resorted to opposite tactics, holding the ball as long as possible. It seemed more toolbar than courtship until the fourth down to kick when bad conditions made fumble so frequent; and it is a wonder that the lowans did not pay more dearly for their folly.

The supreme toe effort of Captain

Levy, as it was so important, decided the game that might be assumed that Levy was the lone star of first magnitude in that game. This was not the case. All the dancing over that morsel with the grace of a Mordinian, the skill of a Greek, the will of wild-eyed undergrads while the various defensive play of Sammy Flinn did more to stop Grinnell advances than any other green-jeered gladiator. Sammy ended his college football days in a blaze of glory. Avis on end and the Pioneers and Thrasher in end also removed their gridiron toes for the last time under these hasty auspices.

With less than three minutes of the game to play and three tremendous points to the Pickers' credit, Grinnell tried to stem defeat by last-moment heroics. The forward pass was called into use for the first time during the afternoon, but in no parison to flipping gains time and again. But aside from this, Coy was essentially a line-smasher. Willie, I daresay, the South could have seen him against Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt and some of the other teams in the palmiest days. No one who ever saw Willie Harnett in action can forget him. He was the perfect football player in all-around brilliance. He was the kind of player of whom all coaches dream but never get. I have no desire to stir up a controversy with my friends in the East, Middle West and Pacific Coast. But do not speak with precision when I say that Willie Harnett never had an equal. In my 30 years of football I have seen thousands of football players in all parts of the country, and with the exception of Ted Coy of Yale, I have seen all the players who stand out among the great players of all time.

NOVELIST DENIES HE IS DEAD
Paul Brutal Regards Announcement of His Demise as a Joke.
By the Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 27.—The announcement of the death of Paul Brutal, novelist, was incorrect. When he learned yesterday that friends were ordering flowers for his funeral, he expressed the opinion it was merely somebody's idea of a joke.

He said he was in the best of health.

John C. Coolidge, father of the President, is enjoying renewed strength in his fight against the heart blocks which had sapped his vigor. He ate yesterday afternoon a light Thanksgiving dinner. His nurse afterwards declared that his appetite had been good.

His household, consisting of the nurse, his housekeeper and the watchman who guards the little white farmhouse, sat down with him and did justice to the chicken fricassee, vegetables, pudding, pies and milk. Although the Vermont turkey boasts his lordship of the market, in the Coolidge home, as in many others of the State, chicken is the Thanksgiving favorite.

The fifth trial of Jimmy Hogan, of the Hogan gang, on the charge of participating in the robbery here in 1921 of Errols Pillow, negro bank messenger, who later was murdered undoubtedly to prevent his testimony, has been continued to

Nov. 18 has been set as the date for the fifth trial, but Circuit Attorney Sidenor has been too busy with the Ferguson-McKinney investigation and other matters to take it up, he said, while State

CHAPTER XXI

Trespassing.

SUE slept fitfully that night, her dreams troubled by what Roger had said about the morning papers.

She rose early, before the family was stirring, and slipped downstairs to get the papers as soon as the servants had brought them in. On her way past Joan's room, she noted that the door was slightly ajar. Through the crevice, she could see that Joan was still in bed and asleep. Sue wondered when she had come in, and what could possibly account for her mysterious absence the night before.

At the foot of the stairs, she met Roger. He was looking toward her, as if he had spent a sleepless night.

At the sight of her, a reluctant grin momentarily dispelled his strained expression.

"I bet you have the same inspiration I had," he greeted her.

"Let's learn the worst together."

He led the way to the library, where the morning papers were neatly stacked on the table. In silence he handed her one, took another himself, and opened it.

"Don't forget that I have no idea what I am to look for," she reminded him.

"You would recognize the Blanchard name, wouldn't you? After all, it belongs to you, too, though pretty soon you may not want to admit it."

"Whatever it is that's happened, I don't think it's all as shameful as you try to make out," Sue told him.

Together they scanned each page of each paper. The story Roger was looking for was not there.

He gave a great sigh of relief, as he carefully refolded the disordered sheet.

"Our latest day's respite, woe be! Now, I am going back to bed to try to snatch off a little sleep. Will you tell the family that my non-appearance at breakfast does not signify a wild night? You can testify I was home at a respectable hour."

"When you have had your sleep, let's start work on the play," suggested Sue. "Til be home all day."

He made a wry face. "Afraid I can't concentrate with all that's on my mind."

"Let us try, anyway, it's the best thing for you to forget your troubles for a while."

"Well, maybe, I'll think about it." With a wave of his hand, he disappeared up the stairs.

Left to her own devices, with breakfast still a good hour away, Sue wandered out in the morning freshness of the garden. Roger's Irish terrier came to greet her with a joyful bound. She stooped to pat his head; he followed her delightedly when she made her way down the garden path between rows of flowers heavy and sparkling with dew. She stopped to look at the goldfish swimming in the sunken pool, and then slipped her foot into it. "Your dog apparently needs a master's voice better than a mistress," he added.

"Allow me, Cinderella." The man picked up the shoe, and, dropping one knee, held it out to Sue, who hesitated a moment and then slipped her foot into it. "Your dog apparently needs a master's voice better than a mistress," he added.

shoulders and the slim waist of an athlete, and although she hated him because he had discovered and laughed at her ruse, she had to admit that he had been a picturesque and attractive figure in riding breeches and a silk shirt opened over a tanned throat, with the sunlight glinting on his smooth dark hair that was burnished like a crow's wing.

She dismissed the possibility that he could be Alvin Teall. But the mystery of why he was there in a house that gave every appearance of desertion, and why he had asked her not to tell that the place was occupied, remained a puzzling mystery.

She felt suddenly very weary of all these inexplicable happenings which had occurred since she left Virginia. The first was the mysterious woman on the train, with the pearl necklace, which had turned out to be stolen. Then there was Roger, with his haunting tragedy, whatever it was. There was the unexplained letter found in the dressing bag, which was identical with the handwriting of Corinne de Verne. There was Joan's mysterious absence from home the night before; and lastly, the unheralded appearance of the man who looked for all the world like the fiancé she had unfortunately invented to save herself from marrying Hinkamp.

It seemed to Sue that she had come to a house of intrigue, and she went in for breakfast with the feeling of one who walks precariously close to the volcano, not knowing at what moment a violent upheaval will put an end to life and its perplexing problems.

CHAPTER XXXI

NE of the mysteries that perplexed Sue was solved shortly after breakfast.

"Sue, will you do something for me, without mentioning it to the family?" Last night I went over to Josephine's—you know Jack is away, and I was worried about her—she is so reckless, and servants gossip so about things that are perfectly innocent but look indiscreet. Tony was there, of course."

"She snapped a peremptory finger at the tanner, who responded obediently and laid Sue's slipper at his feet.

"Allow me, Cinderella."

"The man picked up the shoe, and, dropping one knee, held it out to Sue, who hesitated a moment and then slipped her foot into it. "Your dog apparently needs a master's voice better than a mistress," he added.

"He made her a deep, ironic bow. "Could any man be angry, when he walks in his solitary garden and has a beautiful lady fairly running into his arms?"

"She nodded meekly, but her eyes were dancing.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 28.—The Travis County grand jury, which was investigating State affairs for months, passed "such matters as appeared impractical" of disposition at this time" for consideration of the next grand jury. It submitted its report at this being the last day of its term.

Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 28.—Former Gov. James E. Ferguson, play boy Texan politics, for the first year, defended his wife's right to advise him on the affairs he has been made upon it. The first woman Governor he was nowhere in evidence at the Capitol. He said she was following the Texas University Thanksgiving game which attended.

in a three-hour conversation he denied her name, perhaps six times. When he spoke of the possible impeachment of the Governor referred to her as his wife, he showed he was proud of it.

Dare to Speaker.
He was describing the interview two weeks ago which he and Ferguson had with Lee Satterwhite, Speaker of the Texas House. Satterwhite demanded that each member of the legislature called to investigate the highway commission, and in his protest was the veiled threat of impeachment. "Farmer Jim" sat upright in his chair and glared at the tall west Texan.

You call the legislature yourself right now," he declared, "if you have the nerve. You call your legislature today.

And my wife had this much," Ferguson continued. "She got up and asked Satterwhite if he knew of one thing the highway commission had done which would not have done. And then he told him if he did that there was a grand jury investigating the highway commission and it was his duty to go right before it and tell him if he didn't have anything to say he ought to admit it. Farmer Jim refused to believe anyone would question him.

He said all that was cleared before his wife's election.

The people, he said, that she women of Texas, including her husband."

I told them," said Ferguson, "give my service free, if I was elected."

Discusses, Road Contracts.

He said his chief opponent, the

Attorney-General, Dan

had performed an act of value in permitting the American Road Co. to settle with State. Late yesterday another contract, the Hoffman Construction Co., yielding to Moody, promised to return $100,000 and give its contract.

The Highway Commission is an important unit of the Texas government. It expends $40,000, a year. The rest of the government spends $136,000,000. To get Federal aid for road building, the Legislature, in Gov. James

Ferguson's administration, passed the highway commission bill.

Present commission was appointed under it.

Moody's Accusations.

In this commission, two of the members of which recently resigned, which is accused by Attorney-General Moody of waste management. It has been investigated by the Travis County jury. Possible impeachment of Gov. Ferguson hangs on the conduct of this department

the beginning of this year. 1000

of road were to be surfaced asphalt. The largest contract, for $2,900,000, was let to American Road Co. without competitive bidding. The contract provided the road should be covered with a new layer of asphalt

when it became worn.
